

Towards a highly functional part/tool combination

The latest generation SEYI 200T press, acquired in 2018, continues to improve the performance and accuracy of FONDEX's production. The operation of this press, which is more subtle, makes it possible for us to increase the quality control of the parts. This high level of precision meets the growing requirements of manufacturers. FONDEX is continuing to hone its skills in the use of this major tool.

Automotive market: FONDEX Innovates

The technology monitoring implemented and the technical-productive solutions developed by FONDEX enable it to keep pace with the ever-changing demands of the automotive market. Our experience in the processing of all types of metals includes working with treated inconel parts and the welding of aluminium alloys. This contributes to the overall effort to reduce the weight of parts and therefore to improve the energy efficiency of vehicles.

FONDEX is moving into its second site

The building acquired last year by FONDEX is gradually being filled with production tools. A transfer of the means of production is in progress. This new move will make it possible to improve workflows in the framework of Lean Management and 5S methodology.

A new quality manager at the service of our customers

Mr Romain Georgel has joined the FONDEX team as Quality Manager. A graduate of UTC (Compiègne University of Technology) and UTFPR (Universidade Tecnológica Federal do Paraná - Brazil), he has acquired significant experience in the automotive and rail industries.

He has extensive knowledge of Lean Management in an industrial environment. He is the dedicated customer contact for quality issues.

Romain Georgel
04 50 98 75 67
georgel@fondex-sa.com

99% operational service rate

FONDEX has now reached a 99% service rate, attesting to our ability to supply our customers, in France and abroad, with the parts ordered, in strict compliance with deadlines and quality commitments.

The fulfilment of this objective reflects the priority given by the company to Customer Service.

FONDEX will be at the 2019 Global Industry Exhibition

To foster a close relationship with its customers, FONDEX is taking the time to see them by participating once again in the Global Industry Exhibition in Lyon. FONDEX's participation in this trade show follows on from last year's success in obtaining a trophy that earned it a place at the Elysée.

